Human Performance and Movement Science Doctor of Philosophy Degree

Preparing PhD graduates to conduct independent and innovative basic and applied research aimed at improving human health in underrepresented populations.

Admission Requirements/Materials

- B.S. or M.S. degree in Kinesiology or related field
- Official transcripts
- Resume/CV
- Personal statement highlighting background, research interests, selection of faculty advisor, and career goals
- List of 3 references
- No GRE scores required

Click or scan to learn about HPMS faculty, research, and laboratories

Student Funding

- Graduate Assistantships available:
 - Salary total (Fall & Spring, 9 months)
 - Entering with B.S. degree: $12,818
 - Entering with M.S. degree: $15,081
 - At Dissertation Stage: $17,343
 - Additional salary available (Summer, 3 months)
 - $4,320 $5,781
- Tuition benefits of at least 6 and up to 9 hours/semester ($4,233 - $6,350 per year)
- In-state tuition rate for out-of-state students (up to $7,660 savings per year)
- Up to $1,500 per year for travel to present research at a conference
- $1,000 to support dissertation project

Total annual support up to $30,974 for in-state students & $38,634 for out-of-state students

	Tracks:	Applied Physiology	Human Performance Psychology
General Program Outline	Entering with B.S. Degree Required Core: 39 credit hours Courses in Kinesiology, Research, Statistics Electives: 39 credit hours Includes track specific courses Dissertation: 12 credit hours TOTAL: 90 credit hours
	Entering with M.S. Degree Required Core: 24 credit hours Courses in Kinesiology, Research, Statistics Electives: 18 credit hours Includes track specific courses Dissertation: 12 hours TOTAL: 54 credit hours

Sabrina Queen | Graduate Coordinator | 940-565-2544 | Sabrina.Queen@unt.edu (for HPMS questions) Dr. Ryan Olson | Graduate Program Director | 940-565-2545 | Ryan.Olson@unt.edu